Coppola's Dinner Poll Accurately Forecasts Election Results!

Hyde Park, NY – Coppola's Restaurant called the results of this week's election weeks ago. People cast their ballots by ordering off the special election-themed menu at Coppola's Restaurant on October, 27. The poll was conducted during the Hyde Park Supervisor debate between Democrat Candidate Aileen Rohr and Republican Candidate Joe Kakish. While the debate was sponsored by the Hyde Park Chamber of Commerce, the non-scientific poll was a Coppola's Restaurant research effort.

Owner John Coppola featured debate themed dinner specials for the evening. Using the specials as an unofficial poll, he found there were 8 Democrat specials, 9 Republican specials and 13 Bi-partisan specials sold for the evening. The results of the dinner poll proved accurate once the Election Day votes were tallied. Aileen Rohr and her "bipartisan" team of 3 Democrats, 1 Republican, 1 Independent swept the election in Hyde Park.

John Coppola noted with a smile, "Watch out Marist Poll. Here comes the Coppola Poll."

Thursday Night's Dinner Specials:

Bipartisan- "Hyde Park desperately needs". Harvest raviolis, made with pumpkin, winter squash and ricotta cheese, served with a shitake mushroom, roasted garlic, and cream reduction. $20.95

The Democrat- Grilled chicken breast, fresh broccoli crowns and sun dried tomatoes, tossed with whole wheat penne, roasted garlic and extra virgin olive oil. $20.95

The Republican- Milk fed veal Rollatini stuffed with asparagus, sun dried tomatoes, prosciutto and provolone and sautéed in a shitake mushroom, sweet vermouth demi glace. Served over gorgonzola cheese, mashed red skin potatoes. $20.95

Candidates were asked questions submitted by attendees and presented by Hyde Park Chamber of Commerce President John Coppola. Audience members were treated to a superb display of bi-partisanship from each candidate, with both sides vowing to work towards a common goal regardless of party affiliation.

Results are in. Coppola's Poll results proved people are in favor of Bipartisanship and the election of Team Hyde Park gave justification to the results. When asked about the Coppola Poll results John Coppola responded with a smile, "Watch out Marist Poll. Here comes the Coppola Poll".
